Information About CCET

The Center for Child Evaluation & Teaching (CCET) is a non-profit organization registered in Kuwait since 1984. CCET offers diagnostic and remedial services to children with learning difficulties in addition to training and awareness activities, has come a long way.

Our Goals:
- Campaign on key issues of education and employment pertaining to individuals with learning difficulties.
- Create knowledge, raise awareness and build capacity in the field of learning difficulties.
- Champion inclusion.
- Develop and encourage services that meet the needs of children with learning difficulties including assessment, intervention and training related to learning difficulties.

Morning Educational Programme

The Morning Educational Program (MEP) is CCET's primary learning difficulties (LDs) intervention program. It was started in 1994 and is open to Kuwaiti students from government schools who have had a psychological/educational assessment from CCET indicating that they have a learning disability. The Program helps students adapt to overcome their learning disability and provides ways to help them adjust when they return to mainstream schools.

Evening Educational Programme

The Evening Educational Program (EEP) provides specialized education to students with learning difficulties (LDs) who are not eligible for any other specialized programs during the morning school hours. It also provides behavioral therapy and speech therapy services for individuals with LDs.

Assessment Unit

Using various tests, CCET's Assessment Unit can provide an objective analysis of LDs the individual may have, along with practical advice and recommendations related to the difficulty. The Unit is able to assess individuals from 4 to 18 years of age.

Test Development Unit

The Test Development Unit works with the Assessment Unit and aims to create and standardize Arabic psychological and educational tests that the Assessment Unit can use to identify learning difficulties (LDs) in Arabic.

Training Unit

The Training Unit organizes training for educational psychologists, social workers, teachers and parents about how to recognize, understand and support students with learning difficulties (LDs).
Research Unit

The Research Unit undertakes applied scientific research to develop psychological and educational assessment tools and treatment programs to identify different conditions of LDs as well as effective teaching intervention methods to help students with LDs.

National Help Line

The Center introduced the Learning Disabilities National Helpline to answer any of the public’s questions connected to learning difficulties (LDs). The service is free of charge and is open to the entire community.

Learning Disabilities Library

CCET’s Learning Disabilities (LDs) Library is the most advanced, specialized library in the field of LDs in Kuwait and the Arab world. It was opened in June 2008 with financial support from the Kuwait Awqaf Public Foundation.

The Inclusive Educational Schools Project

The Inclusive Educational Schools Project is considered one of the pioneer educational projects in the region which achieved major positive results during the past years based on the philosophy of the Center for Child Evaluation and Teaching in building and developing an adequate school environment to achieve the best results with students and in particular students with learning disabilities in cooperation with the Ministry of Education represented by the Mubarak Al Kabeer Educational Authority with the financial support of the Awqaf Public Foundation.
